Dear Howard,

Your note of the 27th and the Times through the 30 came today. Hasty response before going to pick Lil up. She worked five hours today and I spent three getting the car serviced, etc. And reading the today's WC stories.

First, I'll be going to New York next week, leaving Sunday. I don't expect to take time to read the Times and I'm taking necessary reading for what reading time I have. My chief purpose is to try to get a lawyer to try to get some of the money due me. I speak at a nearby N.J. college, which makes it possible. I may stay the entire week. So, don't worry about speed on ending me the appreciated WC stories. Given your special mail facilities, I think it would be better to restrict yourself to them and put one day's in each. If you could take a secondlonger and put the date in the flap, when I go over them on return it could simplify things. Several days lately I just couldn t read them and I've some clippings from the Whites I haven t even looked at. With a ~~xx~~ week of backlog and all that will have stacked, speed will be the least of my concerns!

I got the IUPress letter. It is not that unusual. The possibilities you report are encouraging. Perhaps with the maturing of a new generation, interest will rekindle. I wish I could think so for me.

Coming in June: anytime fine. If I have to be away, I'll let you know. Not likely.

Whether there was coordination in what I foresaw and the WH operations of which WC was only part we'll probably never know. The coincidence in timing is exceptional if no more than coincidence. Burke Marshall remains a not easily explained figure in all of this. Rhoads less so. GL just promoted him to take the Eisenhower place on the declassification fakery they have going.

Your new housing arrangements sounds like something good and both more fun and more ,ature, less tempting toward the Joe College bit. Congratulations on the job as research assistant. As you move around, let me know.

I'll take the clips with me to read if I have to wait for Lil. Some of those from the Inquirer look very interesting. I won't be taking time I now don,t have for comment, but of those where a comment may interest you, like the Bud one, we'll have time when you are here.

Best to your folks and thanks,
